

GOVERNANCE COUNCIL BIOGRAPHY

Lesley Meyer

Lesley Meyer is the Chief Education Officer of Education in Motion (EiM). She is originally from Scotland, UK, and graduated from the University of Edinburgh with a degree in English and History. She completed a PGCE before taking up school posts in the UK, Germany, Belgium and Switzerland. She has had experience teaching from Early Years through Senior School. Her vast experience prepared her well to take her UK headship qualification (NPQH) and to work as a Head of School.

During her career, Lesley has worked for the UK government and the EU in recruitment and in policy groups, specialising in the areas of bilingual education, EAL, special needs and the integration of technology. She was a founding member of the International Task Force on Child Protection and has delivered training to teachers in a number of schools. Lesley takes seriously her commitment to the international school community.

Louisa Lu

Louisa Lu started her career in 2002 as part of the audit team at KPMG Shanghai, where she gained her CICPA qualification. In her 10 years of experience working in a Big 4 firm, she developed solid and in-depth technical expertise and also benefitted from the exposure to best practices adopted by a wide range of leading companies across different industries.

After joining Education in Motion in 2012, Louisa extended her scope to the full finance function as well as business development, later on becoming a member of the management team. As the Chief Financial Officer, Louisa applies the extensive operational experiences, market insights and knowledge she acquired through her nine-year immersion in China's education sector to lead the Finance function.

Nick Magnus

Nick Magnus was educated at St Boniface College in Devon in the UK before completing a 4 year teaching degree with medieval history. Nick taught in state schools in Bristol and London before moving to Kenya in 1998. There he was Deputy and then Head of the largest British International School in East Africa.

Nick moved to China in 2007 as the Founding Head of Dulwich College (Suzhou) and the College opened successfully in the same year. In his 5 ½ years as the Headmaster of the College, Nick oversaw a number of ambitious building projects including a new Infant and a new Senior School. In 2011 he was awarded the title of top 10 educator in Suzhou. At the time the first non-Chinese citizen to be granted such an honour. Nick moved to Singapore in 2012 as the Founding Head of Dulwich College (Singapore).
